Dear EU citizen,

Are you still waiting for a decision for pre-settled or settled status?

Were you afraid to travel, or prevented from returning to the UK, because you don't yet have status?

We want to take the Home Office to court over this. We've been working hard on this for months. We have done all we can, and have sent our legal submissions to the Court. Right now, we are waiting to find out if we are granted permission to go ahead with our judicial review.

Today, the FreeMovement website has published an article on our legal challenge, written by our lawyers at Public Law Project together with the3million.
